Errors of living, among which coffee-drinking is one of the most common, has stirred the New York Health Department to prepare a booklet of suggestions for indoor workers, and among other wise bits of advice this booklet says:

Sound advice!

GIBSON BILL FAILS IN THE COMMITTEE

Senate as Committee of Whole Reports Unfavorably on Measure.

M'GREGOR ASSAILS SUPPORTERS

Makes Terrible Arrangement of Supporters of Bill, but Absolves Governor Ferguson.

Austin, Tex., May 19.—With every vote in the senate accounted for an unfavorable report on the passage of the Gibson insurance bill was ordered this afternoon by the committee of the whole which has been considering the bill since yesterday. The vote to make an unfavorable report will be 15 to 13 with Senators Bee for the bill, and Conwell against, paired and Darwin present and not voting.

This vote followed a motion to make a favorable report which was killed by 15 to 14 with Senators Bee and Conwell paired.

When the bill restricting the rate of interest to be charged by life insurance companies doing business in Texas was under consideration two splendid speeches marked the debate. The bill introduced by Harley makes the maximum rate of interest 7 per cent while Clark offered an amendment making it six.

McGregor, one of the leaders against the Gibson bill, opened the oratorical display with a ringing speech in which he made a terrific arraignment of the persons who have been connected with the efforts to have the Robinson law repealed in the past. McGregor quoted from sworn copies of reports showing that the persons had been paid by the big insurance companies, and said they either earned the money or were embezzlers, when they asserted they had not been paid to appear before the committee, of which he was chairman two years ago, in support of a change in the law.

Tribute to Ferguson.

In an eloquent tribute to the governor he absolved the executive from criticism, saying he had got into the present situation much like children present disease by association. He said the governor is the best equipped man ever in public life in the state; that he loved him as he loved no other man in all Texas and will follow him again and help him again.

"I am for him," he said, "against the world. He has more nerve than any man that ever has occupied public office in Texas and while I may not endorse him in this matter, I will not condemn him, nor will I permit any other man to do it in my presence."

Brelford followed in an impassioned speech of more than an hour defending the Gibson bill and deprecating the attacks made on persons in connection therewith.

Morrow made a strong talk defending one of the men whose name had been mentioned in the speech of McGregor as having received a large fee to appear for the Gibson bill. He said it was unfair to charge the person accused was not present nor given the opportunity of being present to explain or defend his action.

Clark Amendment Adopted.

Wiley followed with a talk for the opposition to the bill and when he closed a vote was taken on the Clark amendment and it was adopted 17 to 3. Then Westbrook sent up an amendment making the six per cent interest maximum rate apply to all lenders of money in the state, and after he had made a speech for it, it was adopted by 21 to 4. The bill then was favorably reported and the committee rose until 9 in the morning.

Governor Ferguson sent to the house a message recommending the creation of a state board of horticulture. After the house had disposed of the departmental bill the appropriations for educational purposes and although strenuous efforts were made to strike out a number of items all were defeated except those cutting out a salary for men at the state university, at $1,500 a year and a social secretary for women at $300, and the pay of an advisory architect at $1,095.

Cowan and others made an attack on the appropriations for the school of journalism and attempted to have them stricken out but were voted down.

Objection was raised in the senate today to the reading of any more letters and telegrams bearing on the Gibson bill. Senator Wiley serving notice that he would oppose the reading of any more of these messages. Several, however, were read for and against the measure. The governor's bill appropriating $1,000,000 for country schools was laid before the senate with a substitute by Suiter, eliminating the school supervisors. The bill was ordered printed and made a special order for Friday morning.

Bills were introduced as follows: McNealus, regulating co-operative loan associations; Parr, ceding to the city of Corpus Christi title to a strip of submerged land on Corpus Christi bay; Harley, to regulate the rate of interest to be charged in Texas by insurance companies, as recommended by the governor.

A favorable report was made on the bill placing wharfage dock companies under the jurisdiction of the railroad commission as to the issuance of stocks and bonds. Senate adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Change Rate of Interest.

Governor Ferguson today submitted a special message to both branches of the legislature recommending the passage of a law regulating the rate of interest to be charged by life insurance companies doing business in Texas "so as to prevent extortionate charges in the life insurance industry and to fix the rate of interest to be charged by life insurance companies doing business in Texas at six per cent, and to provide that any life insurance company doing business in Texas should charge a rate of interest to exceed 7 per cent per annum, payable annually, and I trust that you will pass necessary legislation bearing on this question."

In connection with this message the governor submitted figures showing that certain life insurance companies doing business in Texas are charging 8 and 10 per cent interest in Texas while they have placed loans in Oklahoma, North Carolina and other states at 6 per cent and 6 1/2 per cent.

He submitted a letter signed by the treasurer of one Texas life insurance company declaring that it is in the market for Texas loans at 10 per cent, while this company has loans in North Carolina at 6 per cent. After showing where a number of companies are charging a greater rate of interest in Texas than elsewhere, the governor says:

"Thus it is clearly shown that insurance companies are discriminating against the citizenship of Texas in the rates of interest which they fix upon loans."

Constipation a Penalty of Age

Nothing is so essential to health in advancing age as keeping the bowels open. It makes one feel younger and fresher and forestalls colds, piles, fevers and other dependent ills.

Cathartics and purgatives are violent and drastic in action and should be avoided. A mild, effective laxative-ionic, recommended by physicians and thousands who have used it, is the combination of simple herbs with pepsin sold by druggists everywhere under the name of "The Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin." It takes fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

the rates of interest which they fix upon loans."

Representative Darby has introduced a bill in the house carrying out the governor's recommendation.

The governor today submitted to the legislature proposed amendments to the warehouse law as urged by the Texas Ginners' Association. The amendments pertain to the sampling and bonding features of this law. Under the law at present these provisions are mandatory while it is proposed to change the law so as to make them optional. Senator Astin introduced a bill covering the subject in the senate.

The house today completed the consideration of the departmental bill and passed it to engrossment. Before this was done the house adopted an amendment adding $2,000 a year to the appropriation for the department of labor $6,000 a year for the same, fish and oyster commissioner. The full appropriation asked for the Galveston quarantine station was allowed, thus adding $10,900 a year for the Galveston.

The house then took up the educational bill for consideration. Representative Wortham moved that the committee substitute be considered in lieu of the original bill as the original bill was only a tentative measure. Representative Savage of Bell, moved to table this motion, this failed by a vote of 52 to 56. The house then voted to consider the substitute which contains $1,500,000 more in appropriations than does the original bill and includes more liberal appropriations for the state university and the state finance committee in reducing to a minimum the appropriations asked for in estimates by heads of the department of agriculture and the warehouse and co-operative marketing department. The senate committee.

P. H. Vivian, Well Known Traveling Salesman, Relates Interesting Story.

Only recently the following signed statement was received from P. H. Vivian, who travels out of Philadelphia for a well known firm and has hundreds of acquaintances and friends here. He said:

"I have been on the road for a number of years and the food that I was forced to eat in various hotels aggravated a bad case of stomach trouble that I suffered from. My liver was torpid and at times I suffered greatly in an aggravated case of indigestion and dyspepsia, or at least that was what it was pronounced. When I would eat a meal the food would ferment in my stomach, turn sour and give me a headache, which was always painful and very disagreeable. What little food I did eat did not seem to do me any good; I was nervous and never slept good. A friend of mine recommended Plant Juice, saying he knew a friend of his who had been cured of the same symptoms that I had by it. I was in Pittsburg, and bought a bottle. I began to use it and noticed almost immediately that my trouble was all gone now, and I can eat any kind of food and do not have any bad after-effects; sleep the night through and, in fact, I am entirely cured. I am recommending Plant Juice to all my friends who suffer from stomach trouble."

Plant Juice is sold in Waco at W. B. Morrison's Old Corner Drug Store, where it is being introduced and its merits explained.

mittee reduced from $110,000 to $11,000 a year the appropriation for the agricultural department and for the warehouse department from $66,300 to $13,480 annually. The reduced amounts are barely sufficient to pay salaries of heads and a clerk, and a few incidentals. The committee's action was based, it is said, on the grounds that the Agricultural and Mechanical college is now performing duties similar to the two departments mentioned.

BITTERNESS SHOWN MOHONK CONFERENCE

ALTHOUGH EFFORTS TO PREVENT, SPEAKERS REFER TO WAR.

Many of the Addresses Sound Note of Feeling in Crisis.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., May 19.—The first day of the twenty-first annual Lake Mohonk conference on International Arbitration, developed unanimity of opinion virtually upon only one proposition—the undesirability of war. Although Daniel Smiley, host of the conference, and John Bassett Moore, who presided, did their best to restrain the speakers from controversy, many of the speakers were citizens of any of the European belligerent nations or even of the partisans of those countries, some of the addresses reflected the bitterness of the international crisis.

Mr. Smiley tried to strike the keynote of the conference when he said in his speech of welcome:

"While recognizing the part that human feeling must always have in all affairs and the force with which they press for attention. One would think it necessary to explain this is not a peace conference so called, it is rather a conference of experts on a scientific problem than a company of exhorters addressing itself to an uninformed populace."

Hidden Against Disarmament.

Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton university, stirred the conference today by taking issue with pacifists who favor disarmament and by advocating "a wise preparedness of our military forces in the United States."

"I do not advocate preparedness for war," he said, "but a preparedness against war—a preparedness which, in the event of the catastrophe of war, will prevent the enormous initial sacrifice of human lives which has characterized every war in which the United States has been engaged throughout our history."

"No nation can be so blind regarding the significance of present conditions as to take the position that a grave national emergency is not at least a possibility."

Without naming any of the belligerents, Dr. Hibben asserted that one falacy tending to obstruct the progress of peace was that "the present war has been developed certain practices and usages which will revolutionize the accepted restrictions of international law so that hereafter all immemorial obligations of nations shall be in a state of war will be swept away."

"This is not a question of mere academic interest which we are discussing," he concluded. "We are looking into a future that is dark and mysterious. In the high tension of international hate and international suspicion the most insignificant accident may chance to precipitate a national catastrophe. And in the great emergency, if it should come, what will we say? Peace? Peace at any price?"

"By all means let us pay any price we can buy peace—restraint of passion, long suffering, sacrifice of material wealth or of every personal convenience and comfort. Let us sacrifice it all, everything which can be bought. But let us not forget that there are some things which can not be bought. If we sacrifice them in order to secure peace, the peace thus sought becomes for us the very worst of all living hell."

"We dare not trade honor for peace; we dare not betray duty in order that we may bargain for peace; we dare not indulge ourselves in the enjoyment of the blessings of peace while we turn deaf ears to the cry of distress or to the summons of a righteous cause."

Never in the twenty-one years of its existence had the Lake Mohonk conference heard such a call to arms. The Princeton president's appeal aroused intense interest and discussion among more than 200 delegates here from all parts of the country.

The conference was opened by Daniel Smiley, and the president's address was delivered by John Bassett Moore, professor of international law and diplomacy at Columbia university, former secretary of the state department.

Other speakers at the opening session were, Theodore Marburg of Baltimore, former minister to Belgium, and John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American union.

Italian Frontier Is in Hands of the Military Authorities

Italian Frontier, Via Paris, May 19.—The frontier towns of Udine, Belluno, Verona and Brescia as well as their respective provinces, are entirely in the hands of the military authorities, and trains-carrying field guns, horses, troops, ammunition and provisions are congested along all the lines. The peasants' houses are occupied by officers, every family being obliged according to its size and means to take in one or more officers.

The spirit of the Italian troops is excellent and the officers are full of confidence not only because of the enthusiasm displayed by the men, but by reason of the superiority of their arms.

It is said that Italy possesses the most powerful machine gun in existence. It is capable of firing 1400 bullets a minute, covering an area of 5000 yards. Italy also has adopted a new type of gun carriage, enabling the transport, even up steep mountains, of heavy siege guns, through mechanical means, which propel the cannon.

Twenty-nine thousand carabinieri have been recalled under the colors and are about to be sent to the front. They are used for scouting and advance guard service. But 10,000 of these have been grouped into four regiments, to which has been entrusted the flag which the carabinieri carried in 1848 when, under the leadership of King Charles Albert himself, they defeated the Austrians.

A large contingent of Italian soldiers is wearing uniforms made of cloth or signally intended for Austria, but so constructed as to be suitable for use in the mountains of the Dalmatian coast.

There has been a great deal of talk about the Italian army, being a deeper green.

The greatest anxiety is felt for Venice, where large platforms have been hastily constructed for new batteries of guns. The danger to the monuments from aeroplanes is recognized. Protective measures also have been taken in Florence, Rome and Naples, since the Austrians can easily reach these towns from the Dalmatian coast.

THE PRESIDENT AND PROHIBITION.

President Wilson failed to employ that clarity of expression which marks most of his public utterances and writings in his recent letter to Editor Haldeman of the Louisville Times, setting forth his present views on statewide prohibition. So studied and guarded was the president that he said hardly enough to define his attitude adequately, it would appear.

But if we interpret the president correctly, he believes that local option is preferable to statewide prohibition in a state like New Jersey, with the conditions in which state he is familiar, but that he would not lay down any hard and fast rules by which all states should be guided in their determination of the liquor issue. The president still believes in the principle of local option, as applicable to his home state of New Jersey, we infer from the fact that he says his opinion as expressed in the Shannon letter is his opinion still. Yet inasmuch as he says he still adheres to what he said in the Grogan letter, and finds nothing inconsistent or conflicting in the two communications, we are persuaded that the president believes that each state should determine for itself its manner of warfare upon the liquor traffic, for he suggested in the Grogan letter that it was highly possible for statewide prohibition to be employed successfully in a state like Texas.

So we can see little that either the antis or the pros have gained by the president's latest expression on the liquor question. In fact on local issues, we doubt if the president's attitude really counts for very much, after all. We have seen some evidences of this in Texas within the last year. The president's latest letter may serve to keep the liquor interests from using his photo on the bill boards and crediting to him fictitious quotations in prohibition campaigns as they did recently in the prohibition contests in some of the western states, and if so, we are glad he has spoken on the matter. We do not think his letter will have any effect in the gubernatorial campaign in Kentucky, though the evident purpose of Mr. Haldeman was to secure, if possible, some advantage for the candidate for governor who is opposed to statewide prohibition from the president's attitude on that question.

Of course the president's opinion upon any question is of interest throughout the country, and his attitude upon questions carries more or less weight, but where a contest is being fought out upon local issues we do not see the occasion for either side to the controversy seeking to involve the president in it. As far as the merits of prohibition are concerned, they ought to win, when properly presented to the people, whether they have the indorsement of the president or not. The demerits of liquor are sufficient to give abundant merit to the movement to place that article permanently under the ban and while every prohibitionist would be delighted to have the prestige of the president's indorsement, that indorsement is not essential for a winning fight, once the people are fully informed on the evils of the liquor traffic, moral, social and economic.

In every one of the fifty-four grammar schools of Portland, Ore., there is a parent-teachers' association. Men as well as women are members of these associations, and three have business men as presidents. School excursions form an important feature of the work. Brick yards, lumber yards and chair factories are visited by the pupils. A committee of sixteen men have special charge of this work, one of whom accompanies the children on every trip.

Our congratulations to Grady Niblo, former newsboy, who worked his way up in the world, took his law degree at the University of Texas, and is now assistant prosecuting attorney for the city of Dallas at the age of 25. He is one young fellow who has paid no attention to the wail of the pessimists that the door of opportunity is closed to the boy of ability and determination.

A BANKER'S DIAGNOSIS.

Addressing the State Bankers' Association, of which he is president J. A. Pondrom of Houston, employed, among others the following epigrammatic expressions:
"Too many city folks are riding in Cadillac cars that ought to be driving Fords and too many are driving Fords that ought to be behind wheelbarrows; too many farmers are overly religious, scrupulously so, in that they not only observe the Christian Sabbath, but they likewise celebrate the Jewish; too many want to locate along interurbans where they can come to town for circuses and baseball games when they should go where land is cheap and develop the broad expansive acres crying for intelligent cultivation."

Continuing, he said that too many people were playing golf who could not pay their caddy, and made a general plea for more conservative spending on the part of the people.

There is no doubt but that there is a great deal of truth in what Mr. Pondrom says. The panics and financial stringencies through which this country has passed from time to time have been due equally as much to the reaction from our extravagant habits as to the inelasticity of our currency system. We have retrenched, of course, since the war began and in that respect the war will prove a blessing to us, but if the expected prosperity develops after the war is over we will have to guard ourselves carefully to keep from going into the profligate expenditure which is so characteristic of the average American.

We are giving a great deal of attention to the problem of increased production in this country. But as a companion to increased production there should be preached the gospel of more thrift, for unless we conserve some of our additional earnings there is very little to be gained from our increased earning capacity.

A nation, no more than an individual, cannot continually live beyond its income and remain out of the bankruptcy court, and Texas exemplar to this nation in a good many things might with propriety take President Pondrom's advice to live within her means and lay aside something for a rainy day.

President Pondrom said something about maudlin sympathy being wasted upon the tenant farmer. We agree with him that there are many tenant farmers who are shiftless, improvident, lazy, and without ambition to do any more than they are doing at present. But the tenant farmer is not alone in this respect. On the other hand, there are many tenant farmers who are really desirous of owning a home and who would do so if given a fair chance. It is to enable them to see a system of rural credits established and we are confident the bankers would co-operate in helping that type of farmer.

WHERE MARTYRDOM IS NOT A VIRTUE

Testifying before the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations at Washington, Clarence S. Darrow, referring to the imprisonment of John B. McNamara, following the latter's confession to the wrecking of the building of the Los Angeles Times, and the consequent killing of twenty or more persons, made this remarkable declaration:

"McNamara thought he was doing something for the common good when he blew up the Los Angeles Times. He risked his life because he believed in a cause, and, looking at it from his own standpoint he was a martyr."

If he were a soldier of the common good why did he permit the trial to be dragged along at considerable length and great expense to the state before he decided to tell the truth?

If he were unselfishly serving a cause that he held sacred, why did he wait until evidence had been introduced sufficiently to convict him before he decided to make a confession and cast himself upon the mercy of the court?

If McNamara was guiltless in his destruction of the Los Angeles Times building and the snuffing out of the lives of more than a score of people, then the assassinations of Presidents Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley should have been allowed to run free in the country and shoot down whomever they would on the theory that they were rendering the public a service in ridding the country of undesirables.

We do not think Mr. Darrow has proven his contention that McNamara is a martyr, but granted that he has, it is dangerous to allow murderers in the guise of martyrs to be running at large in this country, menacing the lives of the people, just because that from the murderer's viewpoint, the objects of his wrath should be put out of the way. Capital, at which McNamara's wrath is presumed to have been directed, may have committed just as grave offenses as McNamara did, but one wrong does not justify another.

We hope the senate will get the Gibson bill out of the way in time for the passage of the redistricting proposition, which has been very wisely recommended by Governor Ferguson. Not to give a large portion of Texas the representation in congress and the legislature that it is entitled to is an offense of which the legislature should remain guilty no longer.

A janitors' institute was recently held in Salt Lake County, Utah, under the direction of the county superintendent of schools. Several problems of school janitor service were discussed and the meeting went on record as favoring special training for school janitors.

By way of suggestion, why not a "Made in Waco" present for the maids in Waco who are soon to become brides?

HELP SUPPORT THE PUBLIC NURSE.

The Morning News hopes there will be prompt and large response to the appeal of the advisory committee to the public health nurse for funds with which to continue the services of the nurse through the hot summer months, at least. We have heard abundant preaching on the conservation of health, better babies and the like recently. Here is a chance to conserve health and improve the condition of the babies we have in our midst already.

It is a well known fact that the summer season is particularly trying upon infant life. And it is upon the babies in those homes where ice and wholesome milk and food cannot be provided in plenty that the scourge of summer diseases reaps its largest toll. And while the appeal of the babies is particularly urgent just now, there is much to be done among the older children and adults as well, and if the situation were adequately met several nurses instead of one would be demanded.

But that the services of just one nurse will mean much for the improvement of the health of the city and the restoration of those who are already sick has been demonstrated in the work of the nurse for the first month, when the salary was paid by the city, and still larger results can be accomplished henceforth, since she has gotten better acquainted with the city and its needs in this respect.

If a man, woman or child were drowning an alarm would be given and persons who could swim would go immediately to the rescue. Or if a building were on fire and the lives of helpless people were imperiled, persons with red blood in their veins would go to the rescue. But there are the victims of disease in Waco who are without resources to gain recovery of their health and we can help without any risk or exposure or even inconvenience to ourselves by making a contribution within our means toward the support of the public health nurse who is competent to render the needed service.

Here is a work in behalf of the common good. No political or religious end is sought in it. There is an opportunity for constructive service here and Wacoans have always demonstrated their readiness to help their fellows.

MEDALS FOR POLICEMEN.

Man does not live by meat and bread alone. Three square meals a day, sufficient raiment to clothe the body and enough money left to put a little in the bank do indeed give the human heart and the human stomach a satisfactory feeling.

But in order to get out of a man the best that there is in him something else is required, observes the Dallas Times-Herald. That something else is proper recognition in the way of commendatory words, or a medal or higher rank for services unusually well performed.

It is an unflinching rule that men work better for the employer who knows how to praise wisely. Hence the psychological strength in Chief Ryan's suggestion to establish an honor roll in the police department. He would give official recognition to those displaying bravery in perilous positions. Each year the day of the annual civic parade being considered especially appropriate, medals would be awarded for efficient service. The result would be, we think that a generous rivalry to excel in service would be stimulated among the officers and higher efficiency would be the result.

The "Victoria Cross" for Dallas officers would be highly valued by them. The wives of the married ones would cherish those treasures won by duty well performed more tenderly than they would flashing diamonds. To the children they would be a heritage, a reminder of the fact that the father served well and it is therefore incumbent on the child to make equally as good a citizen.

The police officer works for a pittance. The police officer has long, hard hours. The police officer must not flinch when he faces death.

The police officer comes in for much blame that he does not deserve.

When the criminal escapes he is censured for inefficiency.

When the criminal is caught he gets a line in the paper and the privilege of losing his morning's rest by having to appear as a witness against the man captured.

Give the policeman who does his duty well a medal. He deserves that and more.

There are no money devils among those in attendance upon the bankers' convention. Even Beverly D. Harris, former Texan, has not been on Wall street long enough to be contaminated by the evil genius that has so aroused the ire of the politicians.

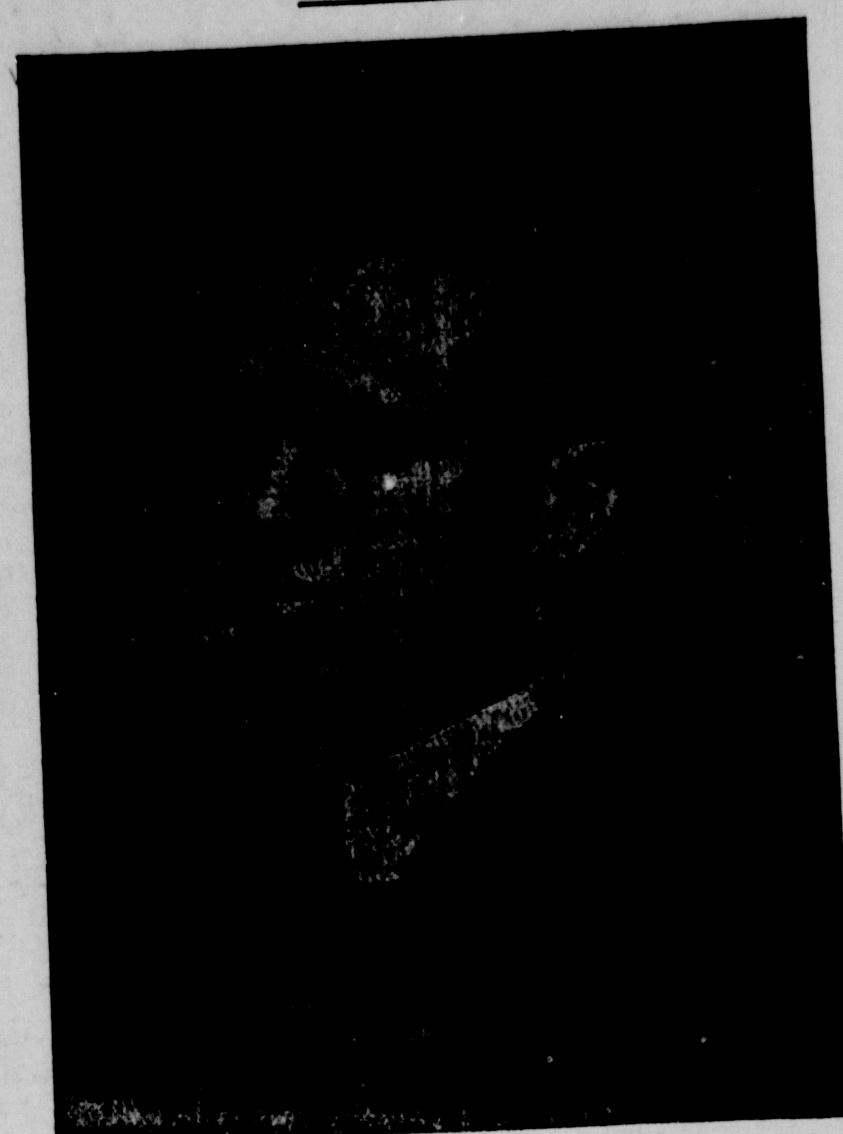

The school savings bank of Public School No. 77 of Borough of Queens, New York City, has had $4,300 deposited in it in the three years of its existence. More than half of this amount is still on deposit either with the school bank or with a state savings bank.

Since Eddy H. R. Green has discovered that a mule is an oil prospector, we have an idea those black land farmers of North Texas will cease to exchange Old Beek for a Henry Ford.

If Dr. Marvin and Dr. Bloek want to see plenty of fresh bread upon which to spread their butter, they had better see to it that we get a few more days of sunshine on the wheat and oat crop.

According to an exchange the South is eating out of tin cans, but the Nashville Banner remarks that it has about stopped drinking that way.

Cashier Hobby of Security National Bank of Dallas Says Things Look Good for Texas

"With every indication pointing to a big grain crop, the future for all of Texas looks good to me," said Edwin Hobby, cashier of the Security National Bank of Dallas, who is attending the bankers' convention. "There is a spirit of optimism in the air and I believe that the entire South is about to enter on an era of great prosperity."

Mr. Hobby is one of the best known young bankers in the state. He is a brother of Lieutenant Governor W. P. Hobby, and has many friends in Waco. He was cashier of the Guaranty State Bank and Trust company of Dallas before it consolidated with the Commercial National Bank to form the Security National, which is about a year old now.

The Security National has a capital stock of $1,500,000, deposits of $7,976,392.19 and surplus and undivided profits of $540,843.46.

The time lost, he said, was equivalent to the services of 150,000 men, and the whole community was being asked to make sacrifices because of the weakness of a section of the workers. ## DANDRUFF AND FALLING HAIR

Scalp Itched. Dandruff Scaled Off. Showed in Hair and Covered Coat Collar. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Hair Stopped Coming Out and Scalp Clean.

Byron, Ga.—"For six years or more I have been troubled with dandruff and falling hair. My scalp would itch so that some times I would be compelled to scratch even in company and I was losing my hair very fast. The dandruff would scale off and show in my hair, and when I would comb it the dandruff would almost cover my coat around the collar."

"I used different kinds of hair tonics and skin soaps but none seemed to do very much good if any. I was advised by a friend to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment which I did, and now my hair has stopped coming out and my scalp is clean of dandruff. My hair is thick as it ever was. I also had pimples and blackheads on my face but Cuticura Soap and Ointment has healed them." (Signed) Curtis Sullivan, July 31, 1914.

DONALDS AND MARKLE VICTIMS OF BAT FIST

OILERS ACCUMULATE NINETEEN
HITS FOR TWELVE RUNS TO TWO.

HARDY SAYS WILL PROTEST

Jost's Stockings Are Off Color—Three Triples, Two Doubles and Fourteen Singles.

Beaumont, May 19.—Donalds and Markle were pounded at all corners of the lot today and the home club won 12 to 2. Nineteen hits for a total of 27 runs, including three triples, two doubles and fourteen singles. Seven stolen bases were piled up off Beilly. Donalds bused eleven hits in the first three innings and every extra-base wallop except Robinson's double were off his decept livery. Dodd and McMahon secured eight of the hits.

Manager Hardy stated that he would protest the game because Jost's hose were of a darker hue than those worn by his mates. Jost, however, removed the objectionable hose in the third inning. For the first five innings Jost pitched hitless ball.

The Oilers gathered four runs in the first. Fisher tripled to center and scored on McMahon's drive to left. Dodd beat out a hit to third. Cooke's triple scored both runners. McMahon flew out to center. Cooke scoring on the throw-in.

Three more runs on four hits in the second greeted Donalds. Jost parked the ball over the short fence for two bases. Kneaves scored on Bobo's out. McMahon singled to center, sending Jost to third. McMahon stole second. Jost scoring on Beilly's wild peg. McMahon scored when Dodd dropped a hit back of short.

In the third Nixon tripled and Robinson walked. Nixon scored on Kneaves' hit to center. Fisher was safe on Tanner's fumble. Bobo hit to first. Robinson scored on the play.

After Dodd had singled in the fourth Markle went to the Hill. He got out of the inning without being scored on.

In the fifth Fisher drove a hit through Tanner and stole second. McMahon singled to right scoring Fisher when James muffed up the play.

The Skippers grabbed their first hit in the sixth. Tanner driving the ball for three bases. Coyle hit to first and was out on a close play, but Tanner for some reason refused to score, although he had plenty of time. Crichtow singled to left, bringing home the runner.

Robinson doubled in the sixth. Coyle made a wonderful catch of Kneaves' drive, which looked good for a homer. Robinson moved up on the catch and scored on Fisher's run to right.

In the seventh McMahon singled and Dodd smashed the ball against the right field fence but was held at first. Nixon singled to first, scoring McMahon. Waco made another in the seventh when Conwell broke into the game as pinch hitter. Conwell batting for Grubb in the fifth and Wohlleben for Markle in the ninth.

MACK WON'T SELL BAKER.

Chicago, May 19.—An agent of C. A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, who sounded Cammie Mack of the Athletics on a proposed purchase of Frank Baker today, was met with the statement that Mack would not sell the third baseman for a million dollars, according to a story printed here.

Besides a big cash price, it is understood the Chicago club was willing to give a pitcher in trade for Baker.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

"Y" Team Wallops the Bankers' Nine 10 to 2

In a one-sided game of ball between Lindsey's team, winners of the Y. M. C. A. major league pennant, and a picked team from the local banks, Lindsey's bunch defeated the bankers 10 to 2.

Numerous errors by the bankers, followed by timely hits made it an easy win for the Y boys, who worked steadily, kept the bases well cleared until the last inning, when a walk, an error and a hit netted two runs for the bankers.

Shear, for Lindsey, batted 1000 per cent. with two hits and two walks out of four trips to the plate. He also scored two of the ten runs.

Yesterday's defeat of the bankers made twelve straight wins for the Lindsey team.

Yardley to McAlester; Al Walters Is Here

Player Finn Yardley of the Navigators was notified yesterday of his sale by Manager Hardy of Waco to McAlester of the Western Association. Yardley played the last year with Muskogee in the same league, Waco having strings attached to the promising youngster.

According to the wire to Yardley, the sale to McAlester is conditional and probably means that Waco still controls the baseball destinies of the young man from Ben Arnold.

Catcher Al Walters is in Waco after several weeks in a Fort Worth hospital. Walters is working out at Katy park and will join the club on its return to Waco Sunday. He hopes to be in condition then to take his turn behind the bat.

Temple Wants Shopping Center.

Temple, May 19.—President George Houghton of the Temple Chamber of Commerce has a plan which proposes the revival of the old-time swapping center, where farmers may exchange their livestock, poultry, farm products and what not for other things of value needed by them.

The plan provides for the erection of a huge blackboard in a prominent spot on the public square and on which board farmers will chalk up their demands and get quick action. County Demonstrator Thomas Youngblood of Bel county has approved the idea and Bell county has approved the idea

COTTON PALACE WILL BEGIN WORK AT ONCE

REPORTS RECEIVED LAST NIGHT SHOW $15,000 GUARANTEE IS IN SIGHT.

CREEK TO BE STRAIGHTENED

Music Committee Directed to Hire Alessandro's Band for This Season.

Work will be begun immediately on changing the course of Waco creek in the Cotton Palace grounds and moving the barns back to the Dutton street line, clearing the way for extensions to be made on the property leased from the city between Ross and Dutton streets. Beginning the work was authorized at the meeting of the Cotton Palace directors last night, following tabulation of the reports of the guarantee campaign which showed that the $15,000 asked is in sight. Scarcely $2,000 remains to be signed up, and this will be obtained from a list of persons who were missed in the campaign just closed. Bids were ordered on furnishing lumber for fencing the new grounds leased from the city. This work will be done right away.

The directors also instructed W. H. Hoffmann, chairman of the music committee, to close a contract with V. Alessandro for the services of Alessandro's band during the Cotton Palace on the same terms as previous contracts.

Reports of team captains of the Young Men's Business league who had charge of the campaign for raising the guarantees were received. The following officers and members were guests at the meeting: President B. Trice, R. E. L. Montgomery, J. W. Carlin, Perry Duncan, A. J. Eberhardt, Sam Nix, Forrest E. Goodman, W. H. Hoffmann, I. Friedlander, W. V. Crawford.

The vote of thanks of the Cotton Palace association to the Young Men's Business league, who assisted in the campaign was extended upon motion of L. Miguel. Mr. Miguel stated that he hoped no part of the notes that he had to be collected. He said that if the loss, if any, is not too large he would favor returning the amount on the next year as a loss.

The motion was seconded by C. H. Cox, who said that no one on earth but the Y. M. B. L. could have raised the amount at the present time in Waco, and they for no other object than the Cotton Palace.

Forrest Goodman, L. Miguel and C. H. Cox were appointed by President Sanger as a committee to look into the practicability of taking in the property along Waco creek on Thirteenth street so as to do away with the whole course of the creek within the Cotton Palace grounds.

An attempt will be made to induce Prof. P. G. Holden, who conducted the profitable farming campaign in Texas early this year, to return to deliver his famous "Corn" speeches during the Cotton Palace this fall.

OUR POLICY "THE PUBLIC BE PLEASED"

Special Picture for Bankers Tonight at the Hippodrome

Pleasure over the excellent patronage at the Hippodrome was expressed yesterday by E. H. Hulsey of Dallas, who handles the celebrated "Hulsey String" of moving picture shows in Texas. Accompanying Mr. Hulsey on this trip was John De Stefano, a Dallas capitalist, who visited Waco for the first time. Mr. De Stefano said that he was amazed to see that Waco was such a beautiful and progressive city.

Two Escapes in One Day Is Some Record; He's Still Uncaught

When one Coffey, alias Johnson, made his escape from the county jail last night he completed a day of many happenings, including being arrested twice and making two escapes from Waco bastilles. The fun began Tuesday night, when the man was arrested by city police on a charge of conducting a raffle. After the corporation court adjourned this morning he walked out of the court room instead of going down with the other prisoners. His escape was made possible by the fact that one of the city policemen on duty in the court room was called away to answer a call with the patrol wagon.

Chief of Police Guy McNamara captured the man in a local hotel several hours later, and he was again locked up in the city jail. Later he was turned over to the county authorities as conducting a lottery without the jurisdiction of the city. The man was released into the guard room last night to talk with his wife, who came to visit him. When the jailer returned to lock him up again he wasn't there. And he hasn't come back.

soon at the Hippodrome are "The College Widow," Harold McGrath's "Carpet from Bagdad," featuring Miss Kathryn Williams and Cyrus Townsend Brady's "Island of Regeneration."

While in Waco Mr. Hulsey and Mr. De Stefano were entertained at the home of Mr. Everett, the local manager of the Hippodrome.

CITIZENS RALLYING TO SUPPORT OF NURSE

MANY PLEDGE THEMSELVES TO PAY $1 A MONTH TO PROTECT HEALTH OF CITY'S POOR.

Prominent Waco Woman Describes Visit Made to Poverty Stricken Home.

Would you like to have an insight into the work of the district nurse and know something of the work that she is undertaking to do?

Would you care to go with her on a visit into some of the homes where she is ministering in the hope of saving that most treasured of all our possessions—human life?

A very prominent woman of the city did make such a visit this week and here is the story as she told it to a representative of the Morning News last night.

"I knew of a very needy and worthy family in the city and had been trying to get someone who would go there and stay until the family had gotten better, but could not. Finally, I suggested the case to Miss Laura Edwards, the new public health nurse, and accompanied her over there to see what could be done in the matter.

"We found a very frail mother in the last stages of consumption, unable to cook or do any of the house work. About her hung five children, the oldest seven years old and the youngest three months. All of them were boys and none of them large enough to be of any material assistance at all, and the mother unable to give direction to them, almost, even if the children had been large enough to help. She was lying on a cot on the porch and flies were thick about her and the children and flew from there to other places in the community. It was a depressing situation but what was there we could do?

"Miss Edwards sized up the situation at once and got busy. She went to a store and got enough screen wire to screen off a room securely, put up the screens herself, cleaned up the room, moved the consumptive mother into it, then scrubbed the floors and cleaned up the house throughout, cleaned up the children as best she could, and then sent them out of the house, both as a relief to the tired, sickly mother and to remove them from the likelihood of infection with tuberculosis as largely as possible.

"The little three-months-old baby was very ill and Miss Edwards saw that something needed to be done with it, for the mother was in no position to take care of it. So after giving the mother the best instruction possible as to the management of the children, keeping them from becoming infected with the disease that was sapping out her life, as far as it was practicable for her to do so, and some instructions as to the care of herself, Miss Edwards started out to try and find someone who would take care of the sick baby until it had recovered and the mother had had a chance to rest up a bit.

"Miss Edwards went to the Catholic Sisters promised to take the little one and care for it. That was yesterday.

This afternoon Miss Edwards went back to get the baby to take to the sanitarium and was shocked to find that the little tot was dead.

"One of the pathetic yet one of the redeeming features of the situation is the devotion of the husband and father of the family. He works a mile and a half from where he lives, but he does all the cooking and housework for the family and is so rushed with doing this that he has actually to run back and forth to his work, where he earns just enough to meet the bare necessities of his family. He cannot afford, nor could he prepare the delicacies which his afflicted wife needs, but his devotion to her and the children is beautiful.

"And the sad part of it all is that there are other cases similar to this one. There are lots of little tots and grown persons too who are sorely in need of just the assistance that this nurse can render and is rendering every day. Of course, we do not expect Miss Edwards to scrub floors and tack up screens everywhere she goes, but she is equal to any emergency and is ready to do anything that needs to be done. I am telling this without her knowledge, not to boost her, for she does not need it, but only in the hope that the knowledge of what she is doing may impel persons who did not know of it previously to assist with their contributions in making possible the extension of this much needed work in our city."

In response to the appeal of the advisory committee to the public health nurse, published yesterday, for funds with which to carry on the work of the nurse during the summer months, a number of subscriptions came in. According to the plan outlined, no one is asked for more than $1, and those who can give that amount are requested to send it to Mrs. W. O. Wilkes, 1608 Washington street, treasurer of the advisory committee, or to the Morning News. Or if they will send their subscriptions, in case they can not send the cash, a collector will call for the money. In case anyone feels like helping, but cannot give as much as $1, smaller sums will be accepted.

On the list subscribing yesterday were E. Rotan, R. F. Gribble, George S. McGhee, W. H. McCullough, John Caulfield, Hood Hill, Provident Drug Co., Cash, W. W. Woodson, Alfred Godshaw, Asher Sanger, Mrs. Flora Cameron, Sam Sanger, Mrs. F. A. Winchell, Powers-Kelly Drug Co., L. A. Goldstein, Alex. Sanger, Miss Minnie Taylor, George W. Jones, Miss Nell Symes, Henry Lindsey, Edward Patton, Mrs. W. W. Woodson, Mrs. W. J. Wigley, Mrs. J. L. Brockenborough, Mrs. George Willig, Mrs. Grace Wigley, J. William Smith, Mrs. J. C. Kelly and Mrs. F. E. McLarty.

The Morning News will be glad to receive and publish the names of all who are willing to have a part in the worthy work.
